

Now then my dear, I haven't got a lot of time tonight but I wanted to make a short stop at your house and leave you this note. I can't believe how quickly your tooth-losing years have gone by, can you? And now you have just one left. Goodness. Time, it seems, flies even faster than I do! When it falls out, you will leave it for me to collect, won't you? Even if you don't quite believe in me as steadily as you used to. It's so important to remember the world can be a magical place because it means that even when you grow up completely, you will always be young at heart. You will be special - and you will bring a little magic to others too. Before I go, I also want to thank you for all the teeth you have given to me over the years. I've been so lucky to have them! And so lucky to watch you grow. What a fine, strong, wonderful young man you're turning into. Lots of love, The Tooth Fairy x
