

Now then my dear,
I am writing you this note because Rudolph tells me you have moved to a lovely new house! You mustn't worry about me finding it on Christmas Eve because while he was out exercising at midnight last night, Rudolph flew right over the top of it and he remembers exactly where it is. He says it looks like a lovely place to live and he'll be only too happy to guide my sleigh back there when it's time to deliver your presents! Until then enjoy your new home, won't you? And carry on being good!

Lots of love,

Father Christmas x
