

Christmas Eve 2022

Christmas House,
Icicle Lane,
The North Pole.

Well now my dear,

It has been a long journey to your house this evening, not to mention chilly. In fact, it was so cold above the clouds that when I got here, I had an icicle hanging from the end of my nose - ho, ho, ho!

It was worth braving any weather to bring you your presents though, because you've been so fantastic this year. I was especially impressed by all the schoolwork you did online. Well done! Everyone is ever so proud of you.

Have a merry, magical day!

Love,

Father Christmas
